TEMPORARY DOMESTIC ORDER¹

This order is issued pursuant to Rule 1-121 NMRA. This is not an order of protection under federal or state law. It is otherwise fully enforceable. It applies to both parties. This order will continue in effect until modified. The procedure for modification of this order is described below.

THE COURT ORDERS THE PARTIES AS FOLLOWS:

(1) Do not injure or physically or mentally abuse, molest, intimidate, threaten or harass the other party or any child of either party.

(2) Do not interfere with the relationship of your spouse with any child of either party. If you are living apart, you shall each continue to have frequent contact and communication with any minor child of both parties, personally and by telephone. A party shall notify the other party of any change of address or telephone number within twenty-four (24) hours of the change.

(3) Do not change a child's school, religion, child care, doctor, dentist, physical or mental treatment or recreational activities in which the child has been participating without court order or the written consent of the other party.

(4) Do not remove, cause or permit the removal of any minor child of both parties from the State of New Mexico without court order or written consent of the other party. Consent shall not be unreasonably withheld.

(5) Do not make the other party leave the family home, whether it be community or separate property, without court order. You should attempt to resolve the question of who leaves the home in a fair manner. If you cannot agree, you must ask the court to decide.

(a) Whoever moves from the family home may return to pick up personal belongings at a reasonable time as you may agree. Personal belongings do not include furniture unless you agree or the court permits. If an order prohibiting domestic violence has been entered, you must arrange to have a law enforcement officer present to monitor the removal of personal belongings. The party moving out of the residence is not prejudiced by reason of the move in any way with respect to custody of any minor child, with respect to a claim of any interest in the family residence or the personal property in or on the premises.

(b) Whoever leaves the family residence shall notify the other party, within twenty-four (24) hours of an address where the vacating party can receive mail.

(c) At a reasonable time, you are entitled to examine the contents of the marital residence and to have access to all properties owned by either of you, for inspection, valuation or appraisal. If you ask, the other party must provide access to the home within fifteen (15) days after the date of the request.

(6) Do not incur unreasonable or unnecessary debts. Any debt that does not contribute to the benefit of both spouses or the minor children of the parties which is incurred after you have separated, may be the separate debt of the party who incurs the debt.

(7) Do not sell, remove, transfer, dispose of, hide, encumber or damage any property, real or personal, community or separate, except in the usual course of business or for the necessities of life. Keep an accounting of any transactions to show to the court.

(8) Do not drop or cancel any insurance policy, including automobile or other vehicle insurance, household insurance, medical or dental insurance or life insurance.

(9) Do not terminate or change the beneficiaries of any existing life insurance policy.

(10) Do not close any financial institution account² or cancel any credit cards nor remove the other party from any credit card account during pendency of this case, unless the parties otherwise agree in writing.

(11) Do not liquidate, cash out, remove funds from or take loans against any retirement account, including but not limited to PERA, pension, IRA, Roth IRA, SARSEP, SEP, profit sharing, 401(k), 403(b), defined benefit, money purchase, employee stock ownership (ESOP), or 457 or 409A accounts, unless the parties otherwise agree in writing, except in the usual course of business or for the necessities of life. Keep an accounting of any transactions to show to the court.

(12) In every domestic relations case involving property and debt division or characterization, within forty-five (45) days after service of the petition, the parties shall serve a disclosure as provided in Domestic Relations Form 4A-212 NMRA. The disclosure shall contain

Comment To Whom It May Concern:

I believe there should be an addition to the Temporary Domestic Order to consider the technologies of today. I work for a family law attorney and there have been numerous concerning events involving the use of Apple air tags or other similar gps devices; one spouse tracking the other spouse's activities and lording that information over their spouse.

Another technological abuse is the use of "smart home" actions. We have had clients whose spouses will control the thermostat from their phone while they are away to make the other uncomfortable or shut off lights while they know they'll be showering or other inconvenient times. I understand these are petty actions and may not rise to the level of domestic violence, but it's just a "drip, drip, drip" of little abuses and displays of control that erode an abused psyche.

These type of events typically happen to a spouse who cannot afford to relocate until interim income allocation is determined which in my part of the state can take several months so the spouse has to endure the other spouse toeing the line of abuse.

Thank you for your time reading this and I hope some form of my suggestion will be taken under consideration.
